The next Mud Grand Prix will be Sunday June 21, 1987 (Summer Solstice as well as Fathers Day), at 2:11 p.m. Your rd--me carefully calculated the differential between GMT and PST last Dec for our yearly schedule. What I forgot to do is remember that PST becomes PDT in the summer. Since the word is out, we will still begin the run at 2:11 p.m. Our potluck picnic will begin one hour later (or so), at the real hour of the Summer Solstice.

Reprint of table from last December--Eddie Z gets the Newton/Garisto award for noting the missing PDT column.

Thanks to Tom Schneiger for donating a very nice pair of Nike warm wollen gloves for a prize. They have been mailed to our first place finisher Nathan Hult.
